1967

The Senior Class of Steelton-Highspire High School
Steelton, Pennsylvania
Presents

Steel-High

"Nothing is more excellent than knowledge".

John of Damascus

We the graduating class of Steelton-Highspire High School have chosen knowledge as the theme for the 1967 Steel-High. We have designated the Lamp of Knowledge to symbolize this theme, for knowledge is the light that brightens the horizon of our future and opens the door to success. We hope that the flame of knowledge that has been kindled at Steel-High will continue to burn brightly in the years to come.

DEDICATION

MARLIN H. COLYER

We the class of nineteen hundred sixty-seven dedicate this edition of the STEEL-HIGH to Marlin H. Colyer. In his years at Steel-High, Mr. Colyer has served as a devoted teacher, an energetic administrator, and a helpful friend to the student body and our class in particular. In gratitude, we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for this guidance and understanding throughout our years at Steel-High.

To the Class of 1967:

It is gratifying when recognition comes within one's periphery of society. To be recognized within one's group is a far greater recognition than a weak applause from a wide area outside one's circle.

To be chosen for this honor gives me a satisfied feeling that a teacher's life is not without reward.

May you take from this school all that a devoted faculty could impart. Retain all that is good; reject all that is not good. Study with determination; work with zeal; and play with satisfaction. Do all this under our Father's guidance.

May you achieve success and happiness with good health.

Sincerely,

Marlin A Colyer

not know should obey."

ENGLISH—LANGUAGE

Skills in English and language arts are a necessity in this modern world. The English and Language Departments of Steelton-Highspire are striving to better the minds of the students through the teaching of English grammar and literature, modern and classical languages, and public speaking.

English at Steel-High is required of every student in grades seven through twelve. In order to prepare each student for his future endeavors, each English course includes grammar, literature, vocabulary, and spelling.

Latin and French are offered in grades nine through twelve to academic students preparing for college. Students may avail themselves to three years of French and/or two years of Latin.

Speech is a compulsory course which covers one semester of the senior year. It includes instruction in public speaking, and enables the student to participate in discussions and formal debates.

MATH—SCIENCE

Math and science, offered at Steel-High, are important subjects which prepare the students for the scientific world which awaits them.

In the science department, general science, biology, chemistry and physics are offered to those in grades nine through twelve inclusive. (Junior high has a pre-selected course). The commercial students have only earth and space science their senior year.

The math department which offers algebra 1 and 2, geometry and trigonometry to the college preparatory pupils, offers business math and bookkeeping to the commercial students. The industrial arts section takes math the first two years and general math their senior year.

At Steel-High we value these subjects and hope to benefit from them.

BUSINESS

Business Education plays a very essential role in preparing young people for the growing demands of the business world. In contributing towards a better understanding of this everyday business world, our commercial department provides varied programs of typing, stenography, secretarial practice, bookkeeping, general business, and business law.

There are three main classifications available for students enrolled in the business curriculum: stenographic, clerical, and general business. In order to be classified as stenographic, the student must successfully complete the program which includes two years of shorthand. Typing I, II, and III, bookkeeping IV and business law are required for classification in the clerical program. The department also offers an opportunity for those interested in general business training.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The social studies department has the job of creating good citizens, in the broadest sense of the term, through education. This education includes instruction in both history and geography.

Instruction for grade seven includes world history and geography. In eighth grade American history up to the Reconstruction and geography is taught by qualified teachers. Civics and Pennsylvania history are taken for a semester each in grade nine. In the sophomore year, world cultures and commercial geography are presented. American history from the Reconstruction is required of all pupils in the eleventh grade. Students in the senior year receive problems of democracy and economics for half a semester each.

This department has effectively developed the students' critical thinking through twelve years of study. Knowledge in all world affairs is broadened and pupils learn to work independently. The most important objective is developing an appreciation for mutual understanding and co-operation among the people of the world.

RELATED SERVICES

The people in this section teach special subjects to the students of Steel-High. Our guidance counselors have rendered us much assistance. Physical education has prospered under the influence of qualified teachers. Girls in home economics are trained in areas such as sewing and cooking. Training in wood, metal, printing, and graphic arts are presented to boys in both junior and senior high school. Our new health classes have offered us instruction in civil defense and first-aid. Talent in art is developed by two experienced teachers in this subject. Juniors are required to take driver's training. Musical talent at Steel-High is offered by trained personnel.

Without these teachers, our students couldn't have a well-rounded curriculum. To all these teachers we would like to offer our sincere thanks for their fine work.

COMMENCEMENT THEME

Great works are performed not by strength, but by determination.

CLASS SONG

Now the time has come to leave these memory filled halls where our standards we uphold.
Facing decisions of life and fulfillment
we strive to attain our moral goals.
The seed of knowledge has been planted in our minds and souls.
Steel-High shall always remember sixty-seven throughout its passing years.
Our days will ne're be forgotten as we set forth in truth without fears.
Seeking our planned purposes may God help and guide us, the Seniors.
We now sadly depart from you and bid our final Farewell, Steel-High, Farewell, Steel-High!

Words By Paul Clark

SENIOR

Would you believe

$$\frac{N_1 - N_2}{N_1 - N_2} = \frac{N_1 - N_2}{N_1 - N_2} ?$$

Chalk one up for Miss V.P.

I give up, where's the ball?

This sure beats practice.

I told you so!

Our sexy secretaries!

MEMORIES

I do! I do!

My mother thanks you, my brother thanks you, and I thank you.

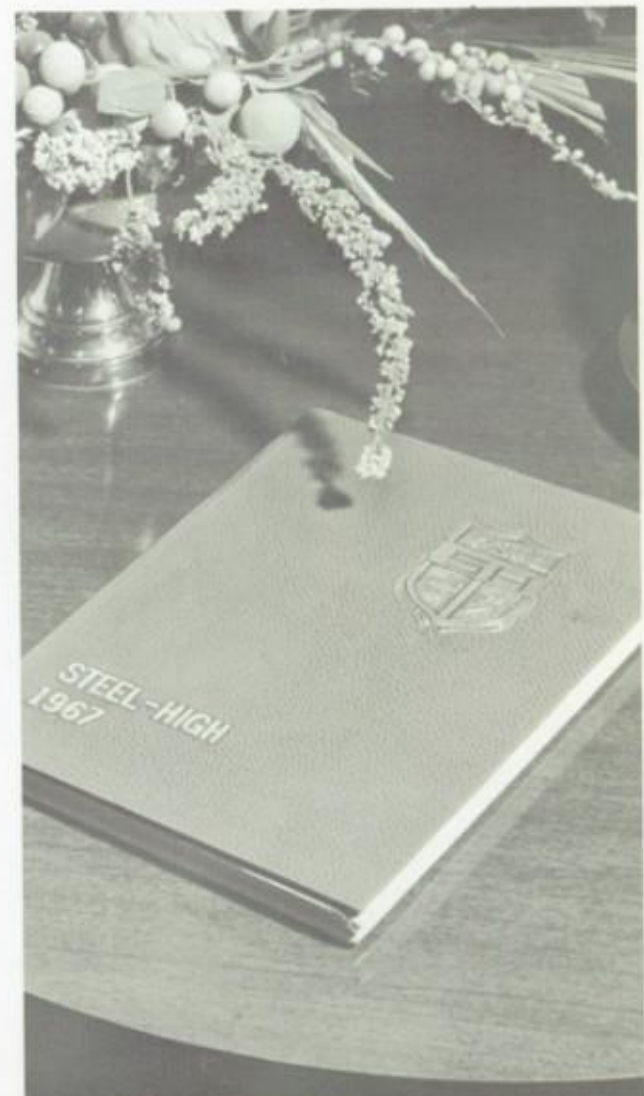

What do you mean we forgot to get office permission?

Steel-High to the Farm Show OLÈ, OLÈ

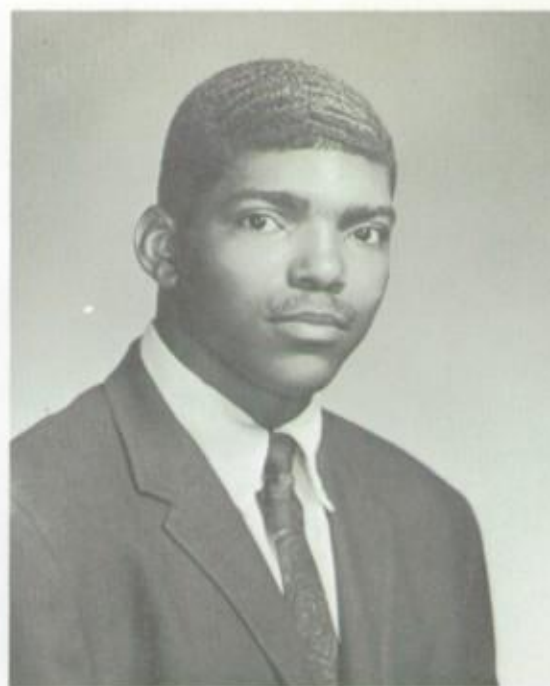

Someday's nothing goes right!

The greatest story ever told!

Mary Ann Anastasiyevich
 "The beauty of the heavens is in the stars, the beauty of women is their hair."

William Robert Arp "Duke"
 "Buildings are measured by their shadows and great men by their achievements."

FAREWELL ADDRESS

Dear Class of 1967:

You came through my doors six years ago looking a little excited and a little frightened too. I must say, you were one of the "scroungiest" bunch of seventh graders I'd seen in a long time, but I had high hopes for you.

That first year was a little tough for both you and me. Some made a few trips to the office and got a little encouragement from the "board of education"; others made it through just fine. Your junior high years passed quickly.

As sophomores, I'm afraid your heads were getting a little too big for my walls, but then maybe you had a good reason. You were a promising class and besides our school was pretty tremendous that year. We did have a champion football team as well as a state champion wrestler. And our basketball team ranked first in Eastern Pennsylvania. You helped produce Steel-High's first big musical, "Li'l Abner," also that year.

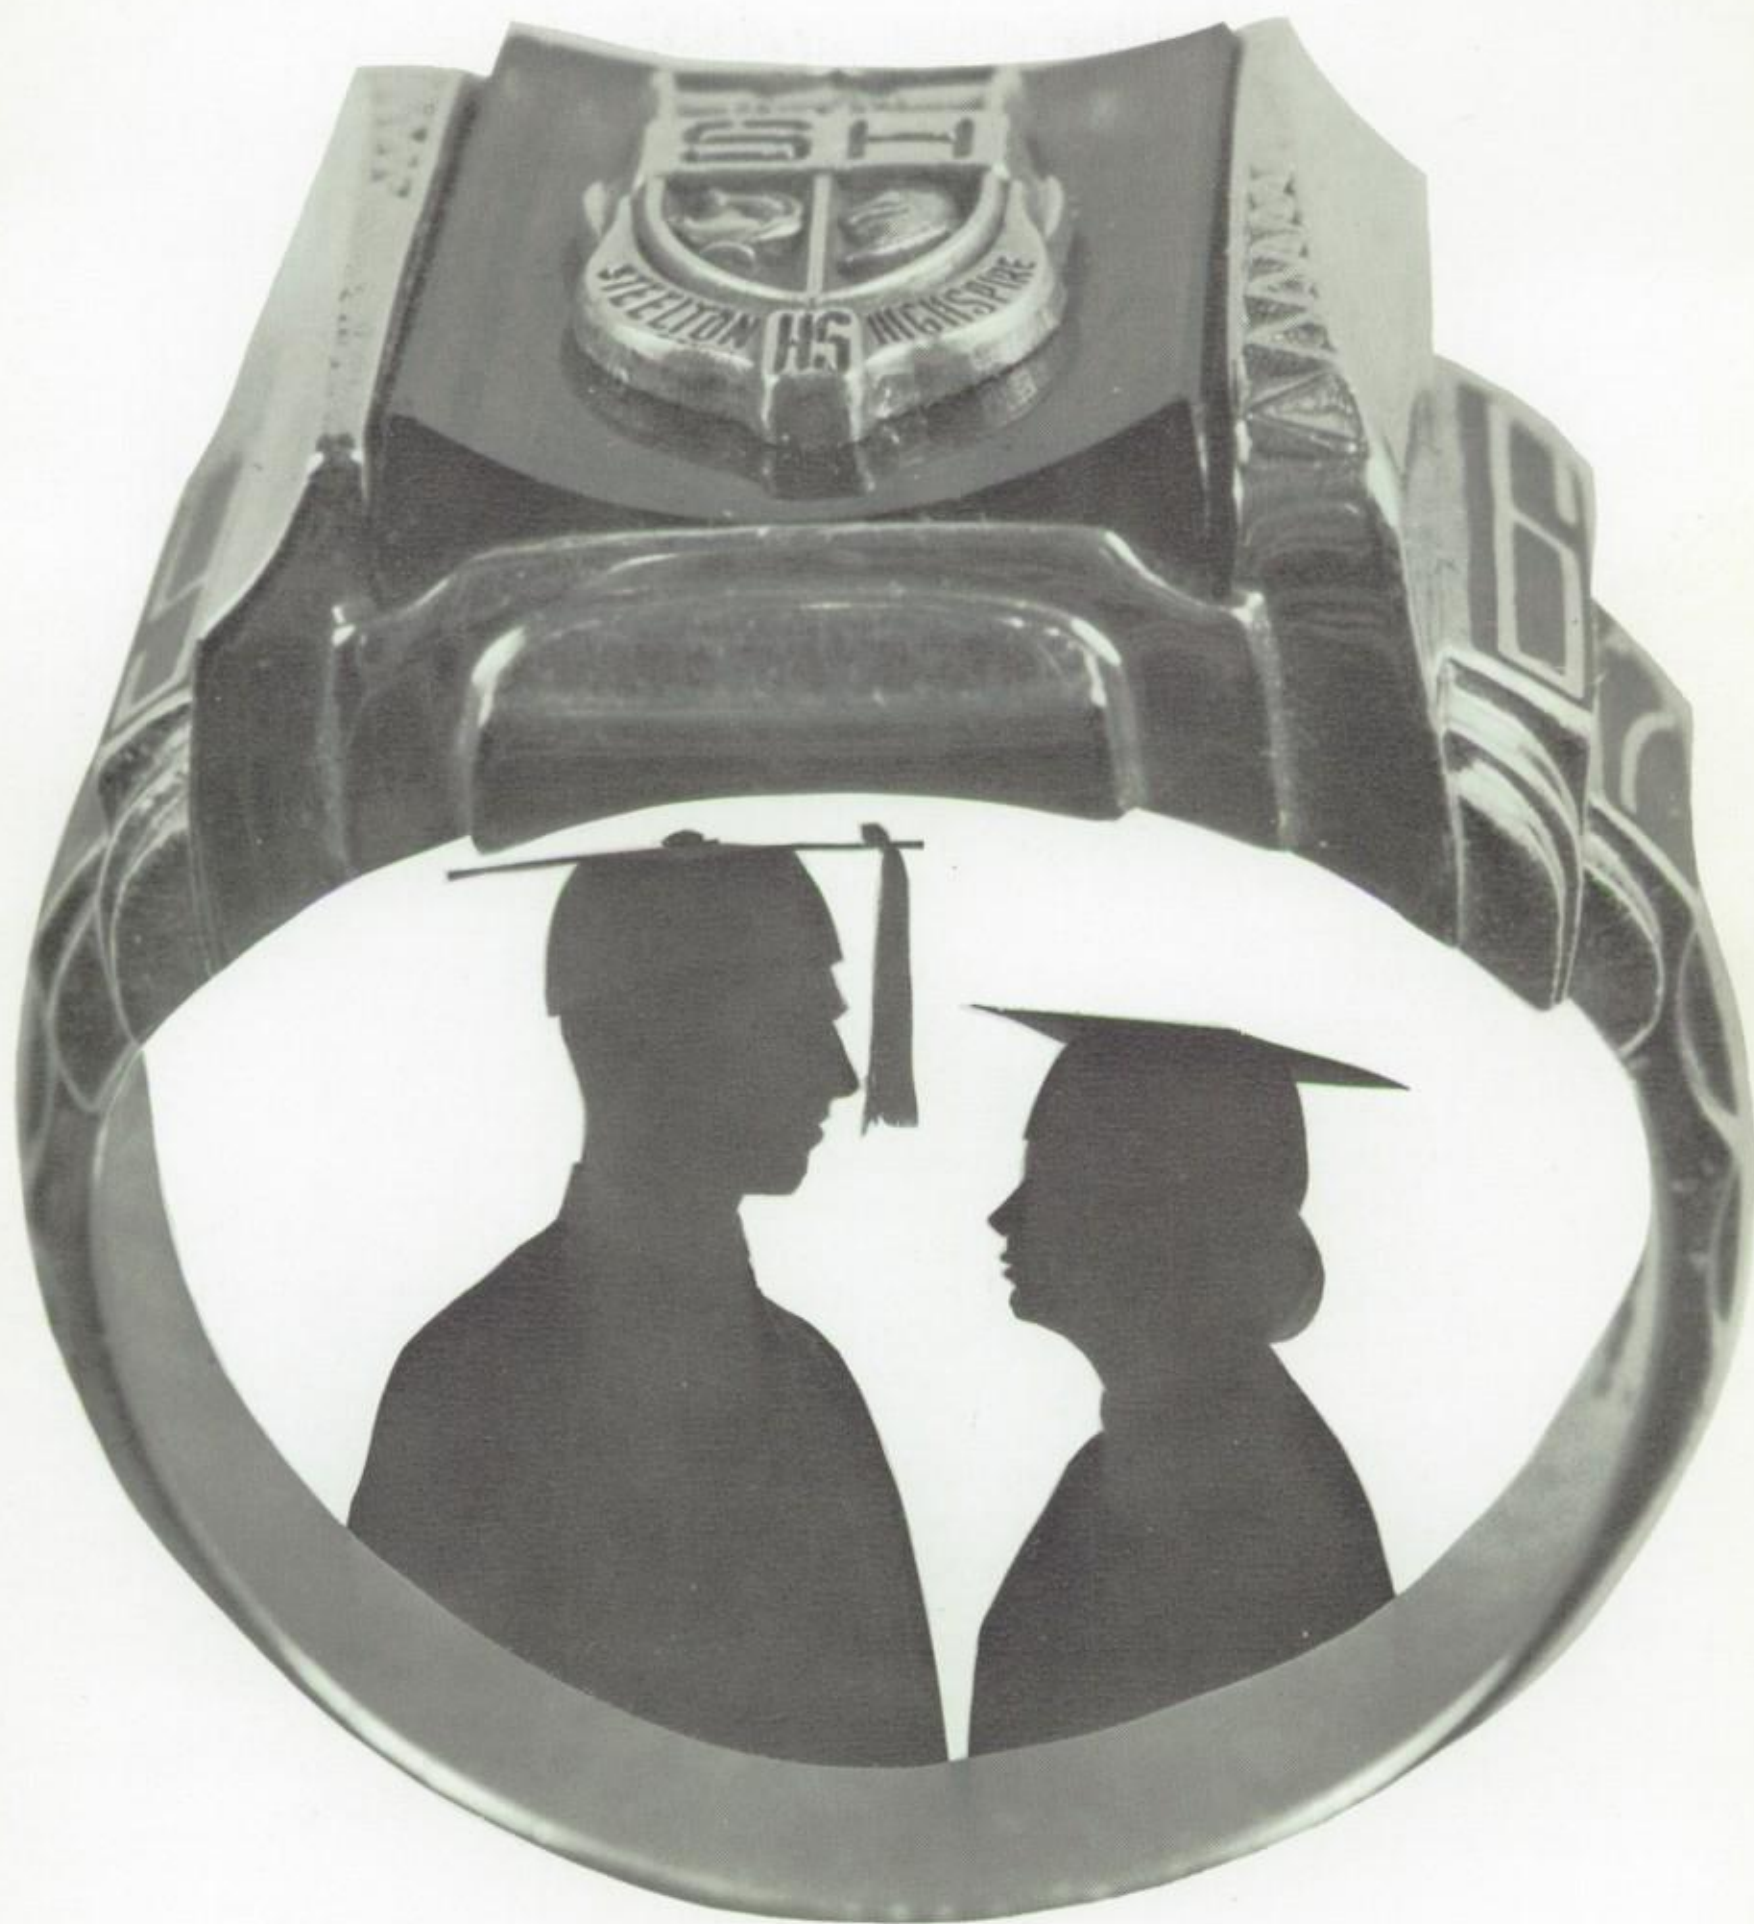

When your junior year started, your heads were still a little large. Doing a find job with your junior class plays and with "Bye Bye Birdie" did very little to bring you back down to earth. I guess it took that sub sale to deflate your egos and make you realize you still had much to accomplish to be a great class.

Well, then you were seniors and when you came through my doors in September, I could pick out each and every one of you. You wore that distinguished, proud look that only seniors wear. The year passed and you displayed your rings proudly. You entertained audiences with "Home Sweet Homicide" and "Oklahoma".

When you came through my doors for your farewell dance, no one could have looked prettier or more handsome. Now as I watch you pass through my doors for the final time, adorned in cap and gown, I feel my walls pushing out again, but not because of your heads, but rather because of the pride I feel in you. You are a fine class, and I shall remember you well and shall note your accomplishments in my halls of honor.

Farewell,

Steel-High
